

In a bid to keep the industry close and interactive during this social distancing era, Messe Düsseldorf India, whom organizes India Essen Welding and Cutting, in association with the Indian Welding Society (IWS), the premier professional body dedicated for the cause of welding in this part of the world, have taken a unique step to jointly organize regular webinars on subjects that are most crucial to address amongst the Welding & Cutting industry.

Since May this year, these webinars have played instrumental role offering the much-needed platform for the industry to come forward and share the latest updates, views and ideas. Till today, 9 webinars have taken place each bringing around 170+ attendees along with some of the most senior professionals from the industry.

The talks covered a wide range of themes including nickel based alloys welding, stainless steel welding, welding automation, hardfacing, automated inspection, additive manufacturing, distortion control, Industrie 4.0, etc.

Messe Duesseldorf India which is a global player both as a trade fair organizer and as a provider of trade fair related services for exhibitors and visitors plans to continue this endeavor with IWS, who have a membership of over 3600 and are closely networked with various academic institutions and industry-related Government bodies.

The webinars are aimed to not only bring the industry together during this “new normal time” but to also encourage the industry professionals to invent, educate, progress and share the dialogues in order to enable the industry to grow further even beyond this challenging time.
